COMMEMORATING THE EXTRAORDINARY LIFE AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF RONALD C. SMITH

WHEREAS, Ronald C. Smith, Professor Emeritus at The John Marshall Law School, United States Navy veteran, public servant, criminal and constitutional law scholar, and a leader in his profession, died at the age of 84 leaving behind family, countless friends, and a community enriched for having known him; and

WHEREAS, Ronald C. Smith was born in Chicago on December 9, 1933. He graduated from Fenwick High School in Oak Park in 1951 and received a B.S. in the Humanities from Loyola University in Chicago in 1955; and

WHEREAS, Ronald C. Smith served his country from 1956-1962 as a naval helicopter pilot and personnel officer. He left active duty to enter law school but remained a naval reservist until retiring as a Lt. Commander in 1977. While in the Navy, Ron, a “seadog” with bright red hair, acquired the nickname “Red Dog,” a name that followed him for the rest of his life; and

WHEREAS, after graduating from Loyola Law School in 1965, Ronald C. Smith clerked for Justice John V. McCormick of the Illinois Appellate Court. During that year, Ron was hired as an adjunct professor in the legal writing program at John Marshall Law School, beginning his career-long association with the school; and

WHEREAS, Ronald C. Smith served as a legal counsel for the Santa Fe Railroad from 1966-1968, specializing in governmental regulation and administrative procedure. He joined John Marshall full-time in 1968, where he specialized in constitutional law and criminal law until he retired in 2014; and

WHEREAS, Ronald C. Smith will be remembered for his commitment to independence and ethics in politics. In 1969, Ron ran for a seat as a delegate to the Illinois Constitutional Convention against a candidate backed by the regular Cook County Democratic Party. He served as a member of the Committee on the Executive, where he sponsored the amendatory veto provision; and

WHEREAS, in 1972, Ronald C. Smith ran for the Democratic nomination for the Illinois State Senate. Party regulars conspired to deprive him of the seat by running a candidate against him who would win, but then resign the nomination in favor of a replacement chosen by the party. In response, he did what any law professor would do - he sued. His lawsuit, Smith v. Cherry, 489 F.2d 1098 (1974) was a leading federal elections lawsuit on dirty tricks until legislation addressed the situation; and

WHEREAS, Ronald C. Smith continued public service as a member of Governor Dan Walker's Ethics Board, among other positions; and

WHEREAS, Ronald C. Smith acted as legal counsel for his wife, Mary Ann Smith - retired 48th Ward Alderman, in her many campaigns for the 48th Ward Aldermanic seat; and

WHEREAS, Ronald C. Smith was a tireless advocate for a fair and just legal system. While at John Marshall, he continued to practice criminal law. In the 1970s he served as an assistant state's attorney during the summer, prosecuting cases for the Cook County State's Attorney. Later, he represented indigent defendants, often those who were not knowledgeable in English or the American legal system; and

WHEREAS, his work with the criminal justice sections of multiple bar associations culminated in his election to the chairmanship of the American Bar Association's Criminal Justice Section in 2001. During that year he was often the voice of the A.B.A. on anti-terrorism activities and international criminal justice; and

WHEREAS, in 1991, Ronald C. Smith founded the National Criminal Justice Trial Advocacy Competition, co-sponsored by John Marshall Law School and the American Bar Association. Teams from all over the world have participated in this award-winning and path-breaking exercise in training future prosecutors and defense attorneys; and

WHEREAS, the loss of Ronald C. Smith to the community is significant. He will be remembered as someone devoted to making Illinois a better place to live, to securing justice for everyone, and to preparing law students to enter the noble profession that he loved. He will be missed by countless friends, family, and neighbors. His loss will be felt most acutely by his wife of forty-seven years Mary Ann Smith; his sons, Michael (Liv Rainey) Smith and Matthew (Carolyn Chandler) Smith; his goddaughter, Margaret Thompson Blumberg, and his cousins Philip, Jonathan, and Mark Thompson.
